Modern cars can run very fast – an Italian Lamborghini has a top speed of about kilometers per hour, but there's a speed limit on the majority of motorways, so you can't around 120 kph. Trains are usually faster than cars. The French high-speed train (TGV) 300kph with passengers, but the Maglev train is even faster, with a top speed of 430kph. type of train travels just above the ground, not on it. There is only one or two in use at Of course, planes are faster than cars or trains. The new superjumbo (Airbus A380) flies 900kph – fast, but slower than the older Boeing 747 jumbo. This flies at 927kph. But life isn't all about speed. Ships are nice, easy way of traveling. They're slow – even passenger ship reaches only 66 kph – but they're more comfortable and more relaxing means of transport. Isn't that important sometimes too?

What kind of a shopper are you?

There are many different types of shoppers. These four people are shopping on Oxford Street, London - one of the busiest shopping areas in the world.

Jose: The speed shopper

Shopping habits: 'I really don't like shopping. I don't spend a lot of time in the shops and I choose things very fast.' Today: 'At the moment, I'm looking for a new suit. There is a good dark brown suit in this shop. It's expensive but I can pay for it.'

Hiromi: The frequent shopper

Shopping habit: 'I go shopping every weekend. I usually buy clothes or things for my house. I love big department stores.' Today: 'Right now, I'm carrying five new things - a coat, a shirt, a cookery book, a pair of shoes and a belt. Time to go home!'

Vince: The window shopper

Shopping habits: 'I come to Oxford Street about once a month but I don't usually spend a lot. I just like to look at the different things in the shops.' Today: 'I'm not looking for anything special. Right now, I'm waiting for my friend. She's trying on a pair of jeans.'

Ulrike: the careful shopper
